In Central, Louisiana, on the Saturday night before Halloween, Hattori, a 16-year-old Japanese exchange student, dressed himself in a tuxedo with a white jacket. With his host family's son, he went looking for a Halloween party that was being given by another Japanese student. But the two young men had the wrong address. They got lost.

When they saw Halloween decorations at the Peairs's house, they stopped and knocked. Mrs Peairs came to the door. She was afraid. She quickly shut the door and told her husband to get his gun. The boys walked to the carport door. Peairs appeared with a gun and told them to "freeze."

But Hattori didn't understand the word freeze because his English was poor. Freeze means stop moving. He continued moving toward Peairs. Peairs shot him. A neighbor ran to help, but it was too late.

The shooting shocked Japan. The shooting has created a furor there. Many Japanese already think that America is a land of guns and violence, and this incident proved it to them.

In Central, the people are sad and feel sorry, but they are not shocked. Louisiana has a "shoot-the burglar" law. The law says that killing may be justified if a person finds a stranger inside the four walls of his house. However, it is not clear if a carport, which is only a roof over a driveway, is "four walls."

11. Hattori was shot to death because
  - (a) he wanted to peep. (b) he tried to rob. (c) he misunderstood Peairs's word.
  - (d) he dressed himself in tuxedo with a white jacket.
12. Hattori and his friend knocked the door of the Peairs's house because
  - (a) they wanted to see Mr. Peairs. (b) they had the wrong address.
  - (c) they were tired. (d) they intended to steal something from the house.
13. The shooting has created a furor in Japan. Furor here means
  - (a) happiness (b) pleasure (c) anger (d) anxiety.
14. What is the reaction of the people in Central to this incident?
  - (a) They do not care. (b) They are shocked. (c) They are excited.
  - (d) They feel regretful, but they are not indignant.
15. The last sentence of this report reflects that this killing
  - (a) is justified. (b) is controversial. (c) is illegal. (d) is good.

(二) 翻譯：請將下列兩段英文譯成中文。20 分，每題 10 分。

1. Mainland China criticized a U.S. Defense Department report on a potential mainland Chinese military threat to Taiwan, saying that it was a pretext to sell the island American weapons.
